

Total Fertility Rate for California 2000-2010

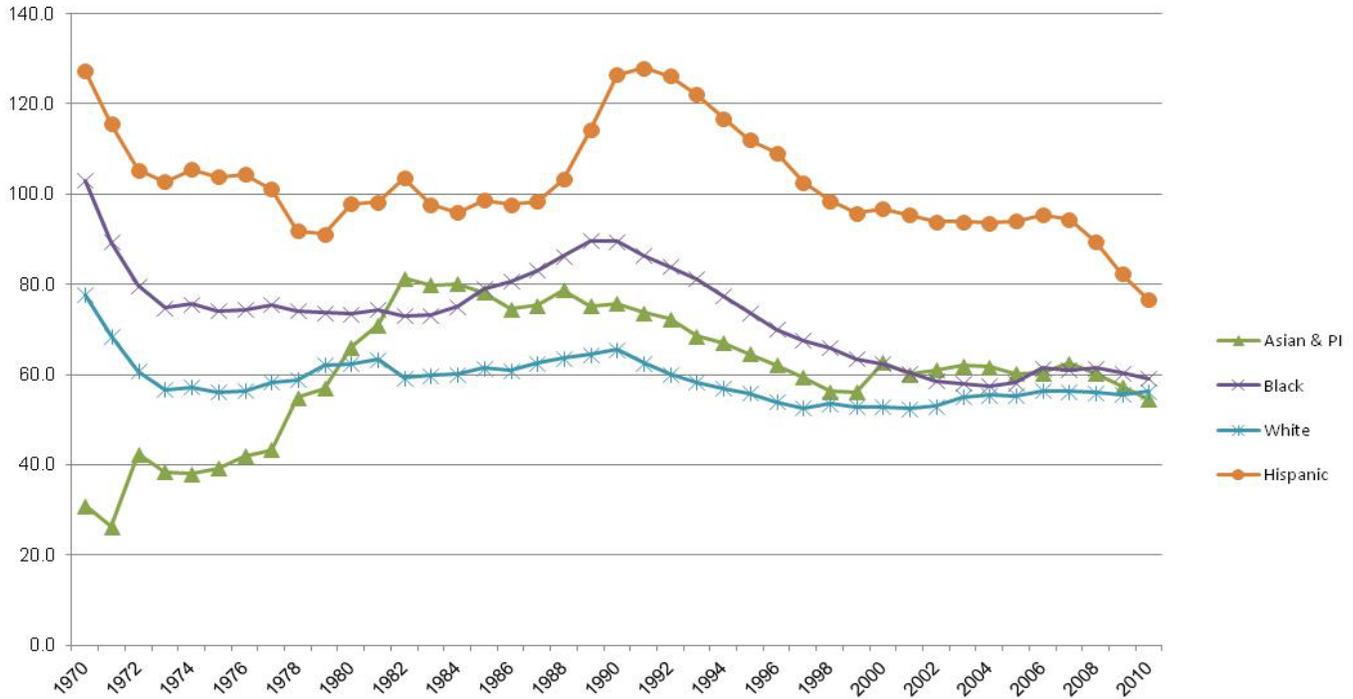

Total Fertility Rate is the expected number of children born to a woman during her childbearing years.

Source for Births: California Department of Public Health, Vital Statistics Branch.

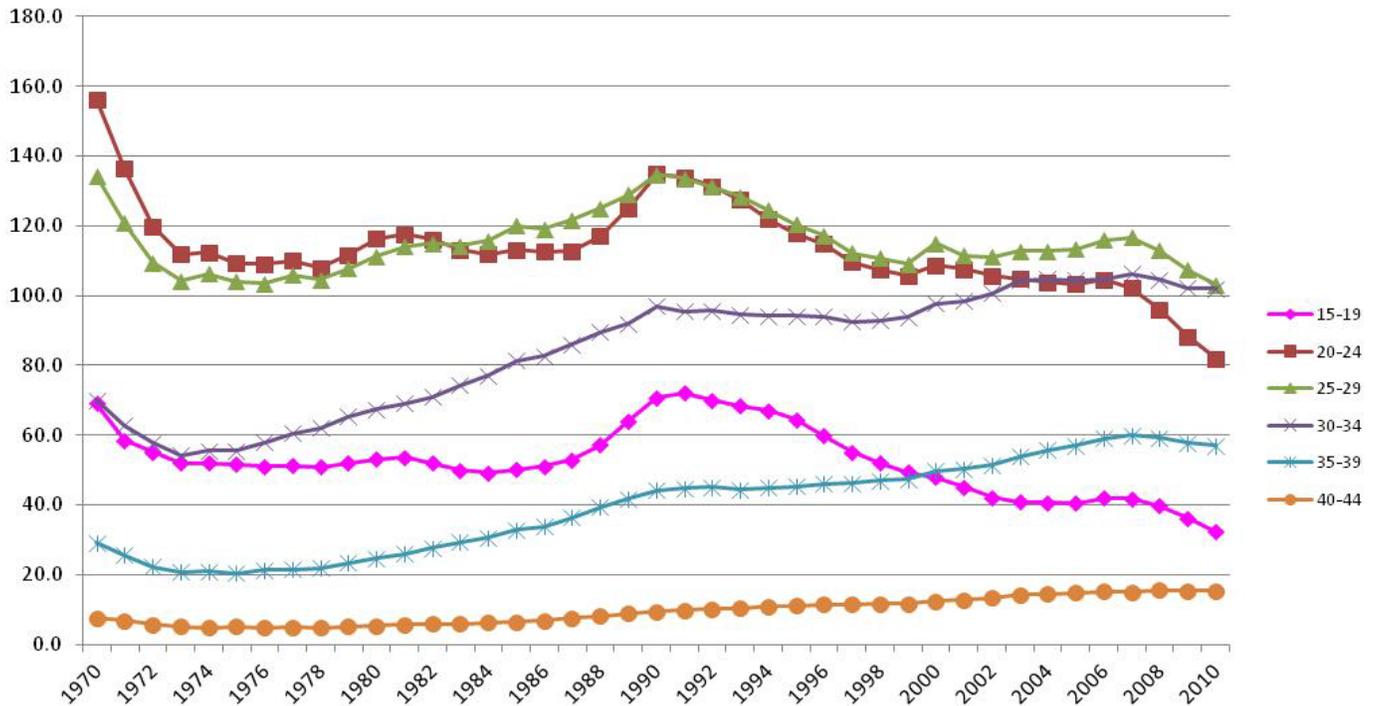

Chart prepared by: Demographic Research Unit, California Department of Finance, May 7, 2012.

California General Fertility Rates 1970-2010

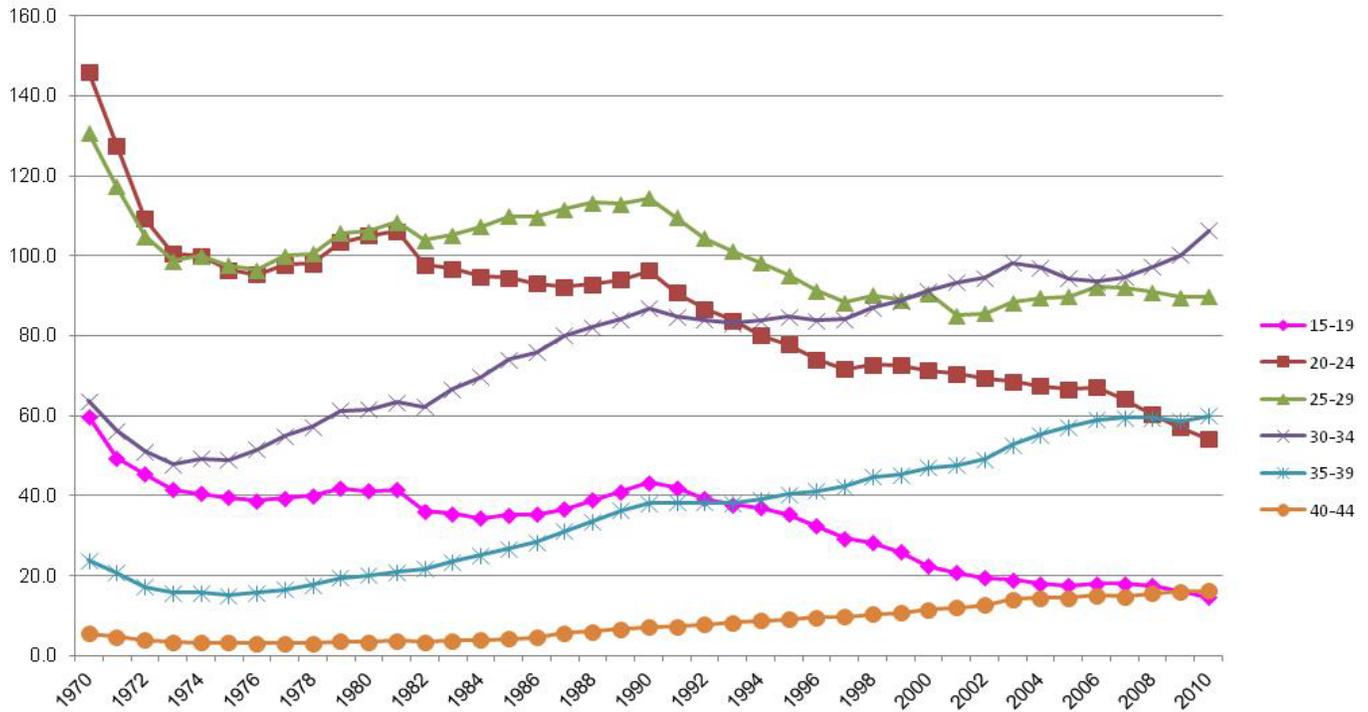

General Fertility Rate (GFR) is the number of live births per 1000 women ages 15-44 in a given year.
 Source for Births: California Department of Public Health, Vital Statistics Branch
 Chart prepared by: Demographic Research Unit, California Department of Finance, April 23, 2012

Age-Specific Fertility Rates - Total Population California, 1970-2010

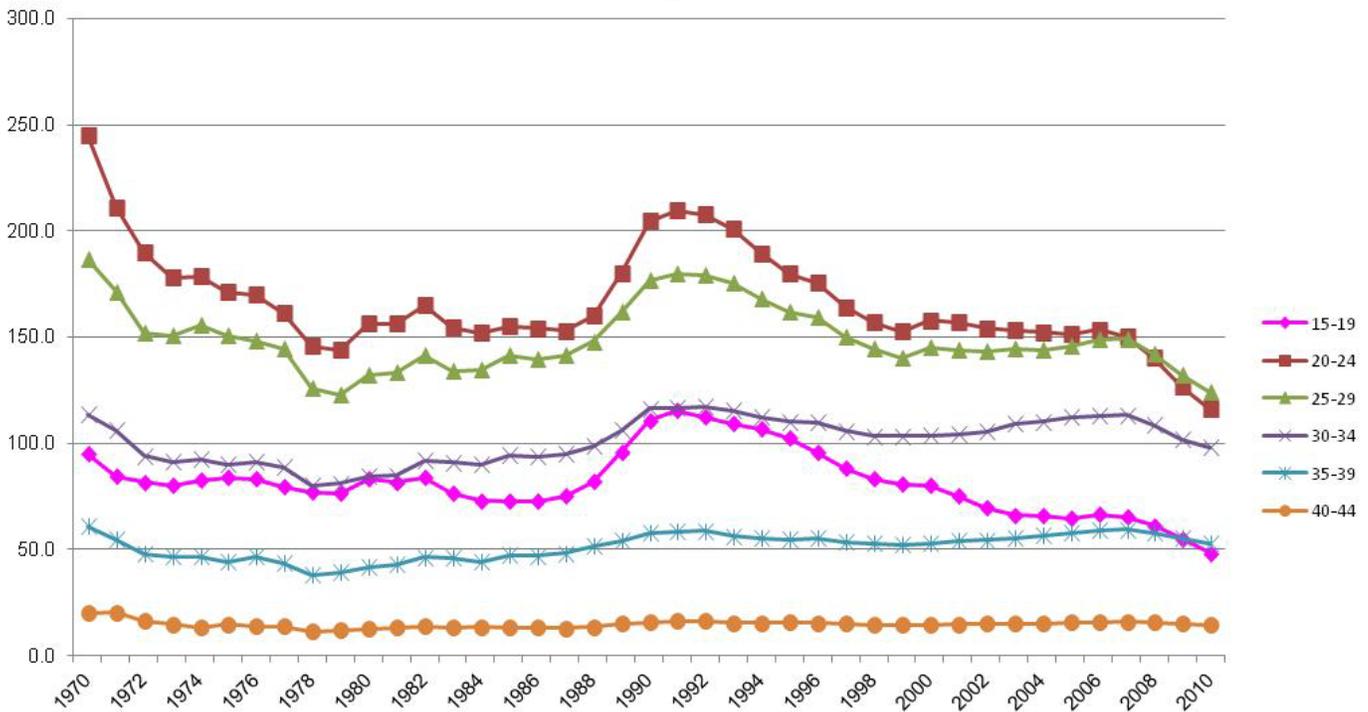

Age-Specific Fertility Rate (ASFR) is the number of live births per 1000 women in the specific age cohort in a given year.
 Source for Births: California Department of Public Health, Vital Statistics Branch
 Chart prepared by: Demographic Research Unit, California Department of Finance, April 23, 2012

Age-Specific Fertility Rates - Whites, Not Hispanics California, 1970-2010

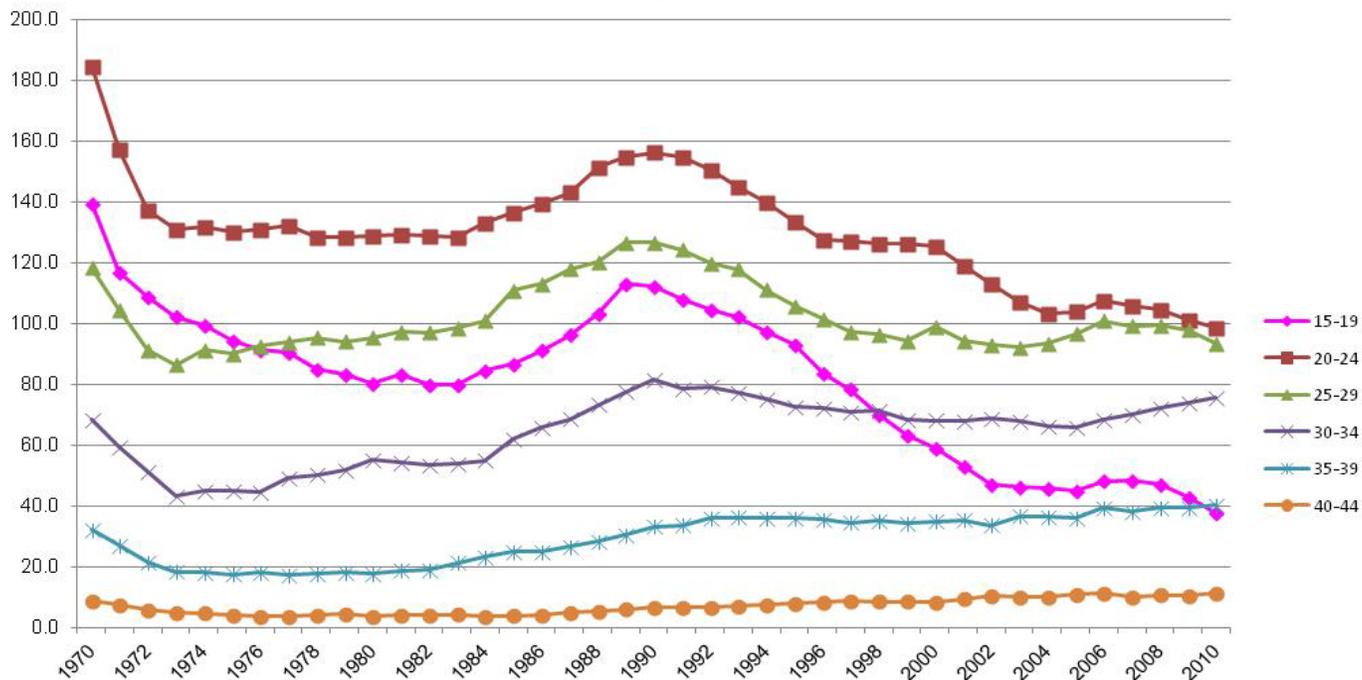

Age-Specific Fertility Rate (ASFR) is the number of live births per 1000 women in the specific age cohort in a given year.
 Source for Births: California Department of Public Health, Vital Statistics Branch
 Chart prepared by: Demographic Research Unit, California Department of Finance, April 23, 2012

Age-Specific Fertility Rates - Hispanics California, 1970-2010

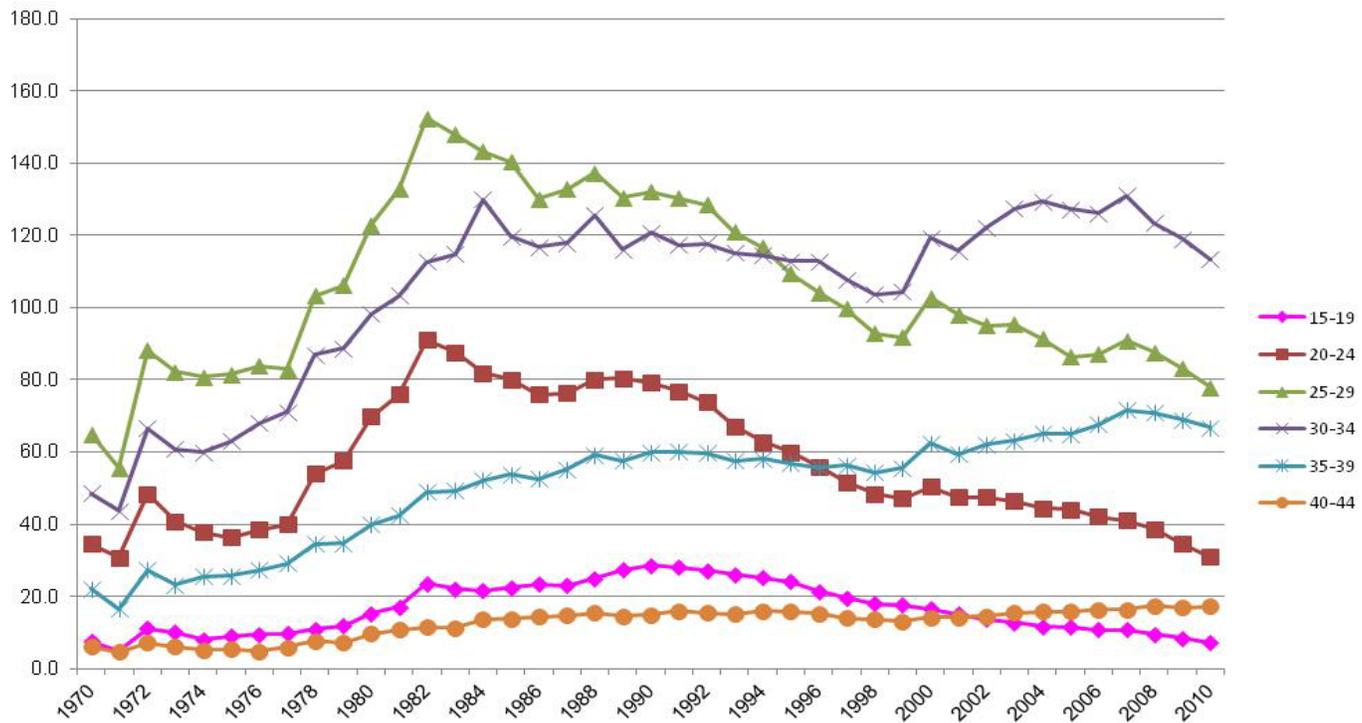

Age-Specific Fertility Rate (ASFR) is the number of live births per 1000 women in the specific age cohort in a given year.
 Source for Births: California Department of Public Health, Vital Statistics Branch
 Chart prepared by: Demographic Research Unit, California Department of Finance, April 23, 2012

Age-Specific Fertility Rates - Blacks, Not Hispanic California, 1970-2010

Age-Specific Fertility Rate (ASFR) is the number of live births per 1000 women in the specific age cohort in a given year.
 Source for Births: California Department of Public Health, Vital Statistics Branch
 Chart prepared by: Demographic Research Unit, California Department of Finance, April 23, 2012

Age-Specific Fertility Rates - Asian/Pacific Islander, Not Hisp. California, 1970-2010

Age-Specific Fertility Rate (ASFR) is the number of live births per 1000 women in the specific age cohort in a given year.
 Source for Births: California Department of Public Health, Vital Statistics Branch
 Chart prepared by: Demographic Research Unit, California Department of Finance, April 23, 2012