INFLATION AND CALIFORNIA GDP

- U.S. year-over-year headline inflation hit a 40-year high of 9.1 percent in June 2022, its fastest pace since November 1981, driven by accelerations in gasoline, shelter, and food inflation. Core inflation—which excludes the more volatile categories of food and energy—was 5.9 percent year over year in June 2022, down from May 2022 but higher than a year ago, as increases in home prices and rents over the past year drove acceleration in the shelter component. California headline inflation was 7.7 percent year over year as of April 2022.

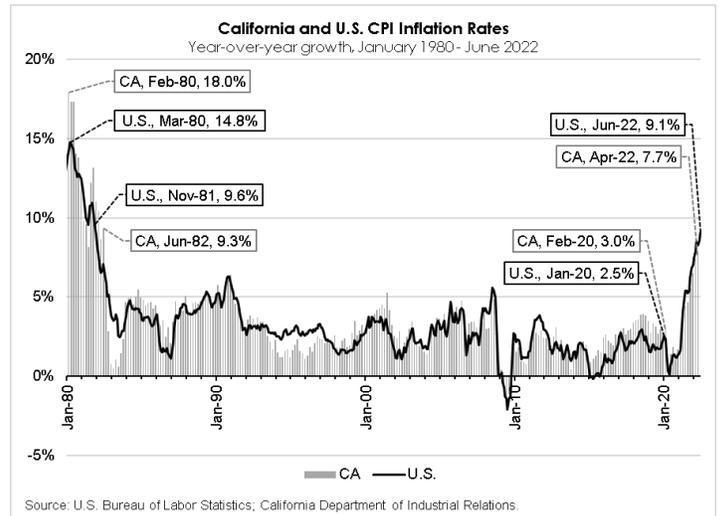

- California real GDP contracted by 1 percent in the first quarter of 2022 on a seasonally adjusted annualized rate (SAAR) basis, following 9.5-percent growth in the fourth quarter of 2021 and annual growth of 7.8 percent in 2021. California's real GDP is still 5.9 percent above its pre-pandemic (fourth quarter of 2019) level as of the first quarter of 2022, compared to 2.7 percent for the U.S.

- California remained the fifth largest economy in the world in 2021 behind Germany and ahead of the United Kingdom, with a GDP of $3.4 trillion in current dollar terms. In real terms, California's GDP grew by 7.8 percent in 2021 compared to an increase of 5.7 percent for the nation.
